myKlovr is a virtual college and career counseling service, helping students and families navigate the admissions process and identify the right school for them.

"Truckers are driving the essential resources for US families during the COVID-19 crisis. While we cannot pay back the collective efforts of American truckers, we can pay it forward by assisting their families with college and career counseling," said myKlovr CEO Gustavo Dolfino. "54 million students around the country cannot access their schools, classrooms, or teachers, while a high school student's academic life is on hold, their future doesn't have to be."

Virtual College and Career Counseling Platform to Aid ATA Members and Families

ARLINGTON, Va., July 6, 2020 /PRNewswire/ --

Today, American Trucking Associations announced it has named myKlovr as the federation's second Affinity Partner, providing discounts and benefits to ATA members.

American Trucking Associations is the largest national trade association for the trucking industry. Through a federation of 50 affiliated state trucking associations and industry-related conferences and councils, ATA is the voice

"ATA members report that industry recognition and employee resources are essential for attracting and retaining talent – whether it is behind the wheel, in the shop or in the office, and having benefits like college and career counseling can be an important piece of that," said ATA Chief Commercial Officer Kevin Traver. "In an industry already facing labor shortages, ATA has partnered exclusively with myKlovr to help its more than 30,000 member companies prepare their families for success and promote the trucking industry and its many advantages to high school students. Now more than ever the country relies on truckers who tirelessly
